4. Our legal basis for using this data

- 4.1 We only collect and use pupils' personal data when the law allows us to. Most commonly, we process it where:
- We need to comply with a legal obligation
 - We need it to perform an official task in the public interest or in the exercise of official authority
- 4.2 If we rely on our legitimate interests as a legal basis, we will explain those interests to you and tell you why they are not overridden by your rights and freedoms. Where we process special category data such as health or ethnicity, we will identify both the lawful basis and the additional condition for processing, such as safeguarding obligations or explicit consent where appropriate.
Less commonly, we may also process pupils' personal data in situations where:
- We have obtained consent to use it in a certain way
 - We need to protect the individual's vital interests (or someone else's interests)
- 4.3 Where we have obtained consent to use parent, carer or pupils' personal data, this consent can be withdrawn at any time. We will make this clear when we ask for consent, and explain how consent can be withdrawn.
- 4.4 Some of the reasons listed above for collecting and using pupils' personal data overlap, and there may be several grounds which justify our use of this data.

5. Collecting this information

- 5.1 While most of the information we collect about pupils is mandatory, some information is optional. We regularly request updated information from parents, via Arbor.
We ask parents and carers to promptly inform us of any changes to their or their child's personal information, so our records remain accurate and up to date.

6. How we store this data

- 6.1 We keep personal information about pupils while they are attending our school. We may also keep it after they leave if this is necessary to comply with our legal obligations or for another lawful purpose. We will not retain personal data for longer than necessary for the purposes set out in this notice. Specific retention periods are set out in our Data Retention Policy and retention schedule, available on our school website. Data will be securely destroyed when it is no longer required in line with our retention schedule and statutory obligations.
- 6.2 We have implemented appropriate technical and organisational measures to protect your personal data against accidental or unlawful destruction, loss, alteration, unauthorised disclosure, or access.
